

Donations

Hunters Helping the Hungry (HHH) provides thousands of pounds of venison to hungry West Virginians each year. Although the West Virginia Division of Natural Resources, Wildlife Resources Section, coordinates and publicizes HHH to the hunting public, under State law, it has no authority to spend license fee income on food processing and distribution costs.

Meat processing costs $1.30 per pound, with the average deer providing 35 1/2 lbs. of ground venison (approximately 142 meals). Food banks are paid only for pickup and distribution costs.

Only the generous donations of caring individuals and businesses or organizations such as the West Virginia Council of Churches, West Virginia Trophy Hunter Association and the NRA, can fulfill the program's mission to:

“...provide balanced, healthy meals for the less fortunate of West Virginia...”

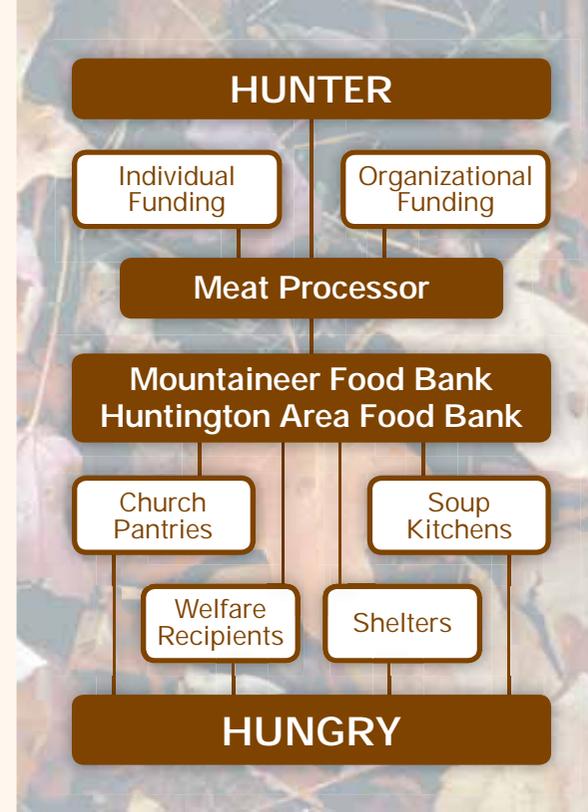

The Wildlife Resources Section makes an urgent appeal to all West Virginians who are able to help. Donations are tax-deductible.

Participation

There are many people involved with the Hunters Helping the Hungry (HHH) program, but participation by hunters and West Virginia meat processors are key elements to its success.

During the first week of bow season, the entire 12-day buck (and concurrent antlerless season), 6-day traditional antlerless and 6-day muzzleloader seasons, hunters who legally harvest a deer and wish to donate the meat to HHH, can deliver the deer to the nearest participating meat processor.

The meat processor will skin the deer; debone and grind the meat (no other cuts); freeze it in two-pound packages; and hold it for pick-up by the Mountaineer Food Bank, in Gassaway, West Virginia, or the Huntington Area Food Bank.

These food banks are the only certified West Virginia members of Second Harvest, a national network committed to feeding the hungry. Both are non-profit organizations, inspected and approved by the West Virginia Department of Agriculture. They distribute the ground venison to the needy through their network of qualified charitable agencies.

Share Your Harvest Sunday

November 4, 2007

Designated annually by the West Virginia Division of Natural Resources, Wildlife Resources Section, in conjunction with the West Virginia Council of Churches, Share Your Harvest Sunday helps support and keep the Hunters Helping the Hungry program alive and growing.

Hunters are asked to encourage their churches to participate by asking each member of the congregation to donate $1.00, during a special Sunday collection for the HHH program. The donations are then sent to Mountaineer Food Bank of Gassaway, WV, and used to pay for meat processing and distribution costs associated with the HHH program.

Churches and congregations unable to participate on November 4, may choose a more convenient time.

Since its inception in 1992, HHH has provided venison for over 800,000 meals to needy West Virginians.
